James H. Cole Home for Funerals and Hospice of Michigan to Present Hope After Loss

Detroit, July 23, 2015 – James H. Cole Home for Funerals and Hospice of Michigan will present an evening of education, support and conversation for those who have experienced the death of a loved one on Tuesday, Aug. 11.

The educational presentation, which will be hosted by Cole and facilitated by HOM, will address the difficulty of coping with the loss of a family member or loved one and provide a better understanding of the grief process. Discussion topics include:

- What makes my grief unique?
- How do I adjust to change?
- What is hope and how do I keep it alive?

“Losing a loved can be one of the most difficult things a person will ever have to endure,” said Karla M. Cole, president of James H. Cole Home for Funerals. “This session offers participants an opportunity to ask questions and share their stories, helping them cope and hold on to hope.”

The meeting will be held at 6 p.m. at James H. Cole Home for Funerals, 16100 Schafer Hwy. in Detroit. This program is free and open to the community. Prior registration is required.

For more information or to sign up for the meeting, contact Karen Monts at 313.578.6326 or kmonts@hom.org.

About Hospice of Michigan

A nationally recognized leader in end-of-life care, Hospice of Michigan is the original – and largest – hospice in the state. The nonprofit cares for more than 1,700 patients each day, raising more than $4 million each year to cover the cost of care for the uninsured and underinsured. HOM offers a broad range of services to enhance the quality of life at the end of life, including At Home Support™, our advanced illness management program, community-based palliative care and pediatric care programs. HOM provides grief support and counseling, caregiver education and support, and education programs for physicians and health care professionals through its research, training and education arm, the Hospice of Michigan Institute.
